7 Principles Of PeacemakingTM

We seek to understand rather than be understood.

We humbly listen and learn, not sit in judgement.

We enter into open dialogue, not debates.

We frame questions respectfully.

We respect each other's unique journey and perspective.

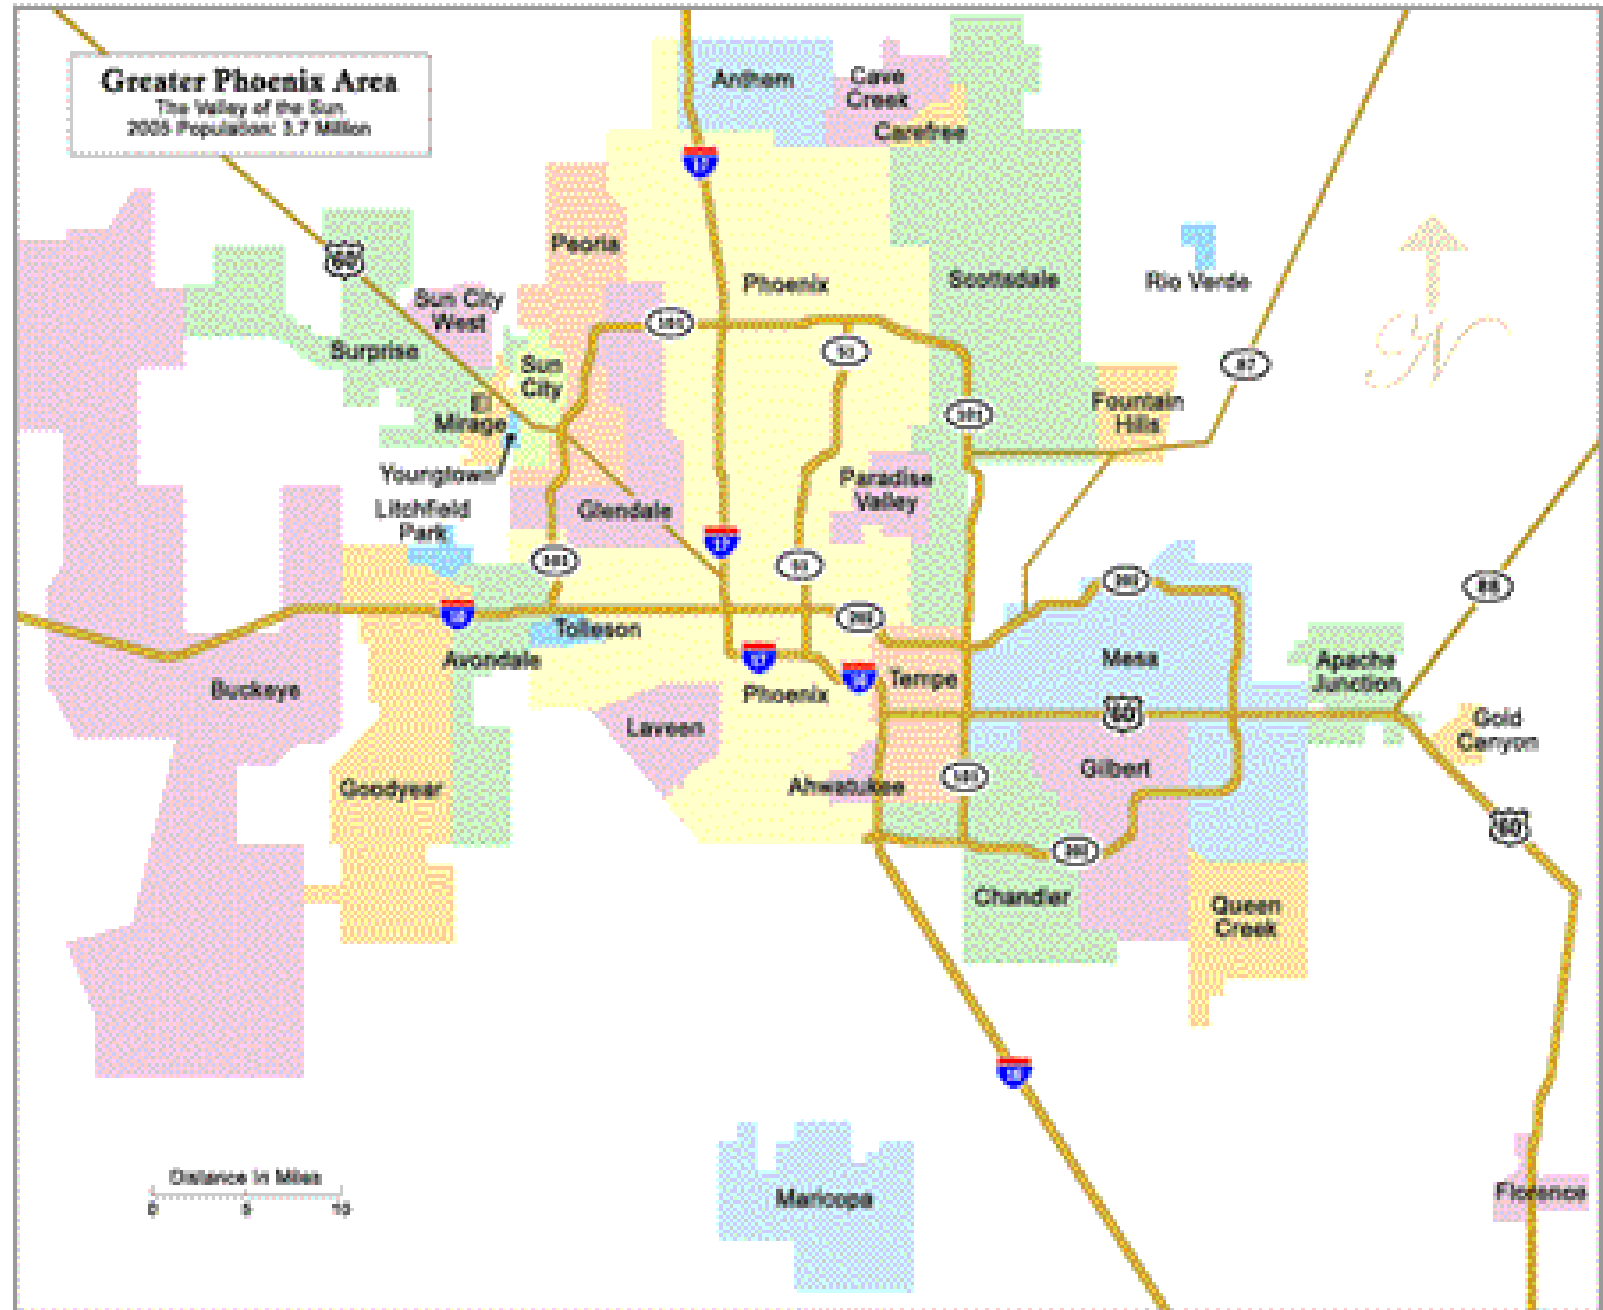

We honor relationships over the need to be right.

We believe we are engaging in a story bigger than our own.

Community is much more than belonging to something: it's about doing something together that makes belonging matter.
